WITH GERMANS IN OSTEND, ENGLISH ARE APPREHENSIVE

Fear of Air Campaign Over England is Feared When Kaiser's Men Occupy Shore Resort Today.

EXPERTS CAN'T CONCEIVE IT

Knowledges That Germans Are Four Hours From England by Boat Makes People Bit Nervous.

BIG PROBLEMS UNSETTLED

English War Bureau Statement Says Neither Side Can Claim to Have Decisive Victory.

(By U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

London, August 22.—Jubilation over the series of successes by the Begian army today gave way to serious concern over the present situation. The occupancy of Ostend, giving Germany that Belgian shore resort, while not officially confirmed, is accepted as practically a certainty. The newspapers, led by the Times, the Post and the Express, all express the fear that this latest German move may mean an attempted raid through the air, directed against England. While the majority of the military experts say they can not conceive of any such move, the great majority of Britian's people are apprehensive of a German dirigible campaign over England. The knowledge that the Germans are within four hours of the British coast by steamer has made many at least nervous.

The official war bureau, in a statement analyzing the situation to date says:

Neither side can claim to have gained what could be called a decisive victory. The French have steadily continued to gain ground in Alsace. The Germans have obliged a large portion of the Belgian army to retire on Antwerp. But the big problems of the present war are still

MILLIONAIRE AUTO RACE DRIVER KILLED

Spencer Wishart Dies From Injuries Received on Elgin, Ill., Track This Afternoon.

MARRIED INDIANAPOLIS GIRL

(By United Press.)

Elgin, Ill., August 22.—Spencer Wishart, New York milionaire sportsman and auto racer, died in a local hospital from injuries he received when his Mercer car, in which he was leading the Elgin national trophy race, turned turtle on the back stretch on the eleventh lap this afternoon. Mrs. Louise McGowan, Wishart, formerly of Indianapolis was in the stand and hurried to her husband's side. Wishart sustained a broken leg and internal injuries.

At 150 miles the position of the leading cars was:

Burman's peugot, Alley's Duesenberg. Pullen's Mercer, DePalma's Mercedes, Grant's Sunbeam and Anderson's and Oldfield's Stultz. Four spectators were reported seriously injured when Wishart's car overturned.

SHE VIOLATES RULES OF WAR

French War Office Charges Germans Are Using Explosive Bullets And Appeals to Powers.

HAS OTHER COMPLAINTS ALSO

Unopposed, Germans Are Moving Very Fast Through Northern and Eastern Belgium.

(By U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Paris, August. 22.—The French war office tonight directly charged that the Germans are using explosive bullets in contravention of the rules of civilized warfare. In an official formal protest was announced that a formal protest was made tonight to all of the neutral powers, calling their attention to this violation of the rules to which Germany herself was a party and asking that they unite in a protest to the German government.

In addition it was stated that the formal protest against alleged bombardment of unfortified villages and towns without formal warning and of the alleged killing of non-combatants have been prepared and they, too, will be forwarded to the neutral powers.

The German troops are moving very fast all through northern and eastern Belgium. Practically unopposed they have spread to Ghent and toward Ostend. Strong bodies of the enemy are pressing steadily along both banks of the Meuse just out of range of the guns of the Namur fort. A strong German column with heavy artillery is bombarding Namur. Every indication points to a sharp, stern assault on the enemy's lines of defense. Just where the blow is being struck by the allied armies is a profound secret. But the war office experts declare that every move of the Germans in Belgium has been anticipated and that they will be met "when the proper time comes."

The German army is moving along both banks of the Meuse past Namur leaving a heavy force of artillery to reduce the fortifications. It is considered certain that it is striking at the first French line and there are rumors that the Germans are attempting in enveloping movement now that the Belgian army has been thrown back and bottled up. It is admitted that the German cavalry has proven

FLEET AND ARMY AWAITS WORD

Japan is Ready to Strike at Kiao Chau, German Territory, at Expiration of Ultimatum

KAISER WILL RESIST TO LAST

Germans Will Put up Desperate Fight by Land and Sea—Reinforcements are Added

When Ultimatum Expires

While the Japanese ultimatum to Germany expires at noon Sunday, it failed to state whether Berlin or Tokio time was to be observed. While it is believed that noon Berlin will be the time limit insisted on by the Mikado, dispatches from Tokio and Berlin, via the frontier, fail to clear up that point. The following figures show the New York time under both conditions:

When it is noon Sunday at Tokio, it is 3:35 a. m. Sunday in Berlin and 9:41 p. m. Saturday in New York.

When it is noon Sunday at Berlin, it is 8:25 p. m. Sunday in Tokio and 6:06 a. m. Sunday in New York.

(By United Press.)

Shanghai, Aug. 22.—Not only a Japanese fleet, but an immense Japanese army is already waiting the word to strike at Kiao Chau. Japan has not waited for the expiration of her ultimatum to place her forces in position. Advices from Tokio prove this although the censorship is absolute and Japanese correspondents are warned that any publication of news of the army or navy shall be punished by death.

It is reported here that the fleet mobilized and is now at a rendezvous near the Shantung peninsula. It comprises all of the modern battleships and armored cruisers. With the fleet is reported to be a large army on transports nearly every man of whom is a veteran of the Russo-Japanese war. There is now no resist to the last. The Japanese question in Tokio that Germany will officials know that the entire fortifications of the German concession have been reinforced. Coolies have been working night and day for a month strengthening every point. Additional guns have been mounted and there is no doubt here that the channel to the harbor has been mined

The Germans are expected to put up a desperate resistance both by land and by sea. The German war fleet in the Orient has been getting ready in the harbor for the last week. Ever since the ultimatum was served the cruisers have been preparing for action and, although far outnumbered, are expected to attempt a raid on the Japanese the moment the latter open hostilities.

ASKED TO NAME DELEGATES.

Mayor C. L. Bebout has received word that he is entitled to appoint five delegates to the International Irrigation Congress to be held in Calgary, Alberta, Canada, October 5 to 9. Mayor Bebout will appoint anyone that desires to go to the meeting. It is hoped to have every city in the United States represented at the meeting.

Miss Anna Finney, who has been ill at her home in Third street, is very much improved.

CONCESSIONS ARRIVE TODAY

Evidence of Annual County Exhibit is Seen on Every Hand Today on Eve of Opening.

TWO FAIRS TO DRAW FROM

Race Track is Put in Excellent Shape and Barns Are Filling up, Insuring Good Program.

Concessions and race horses began arriving today for the Rush county fair which will open next Tuesday. Rush county follows two county fairs in this immediate vicinity so that there is aways a chance for a large number of concessions and race horses. Both the Fayette and Bartholomew county fairs closed yesterday.

Word from Connersville is that practically every concession on the grounds there will come to Rushville, with the exception of one undesirable show. Notable among the attractions at the Fayette county free fair fair which will come here is Buckskin Ben's wild west show.

This show has been at the Rush county fair before, but this year it is increased in size and offers a much more pretentious performance. Persons from here who attended the fair at Connersville say that Buckskin Ben's show is better than Col. Cummins' Far East and Young Buffalo's Far West show which was here this summer and for which an admission fee of fifty cents was charged. The fair management made a special endeavor to bring Buckskin Ben here for it was felt that this show at ten cents would be worth much more than several ordinary free attractions

The fair this year is expected to be doubly attractive this year because of the night feature. Every since the Fayette county free fain has held a night fair, there has been a public clamor in Rush county for a night fair. The fair board this year has gone to some expense and has taken considerabe risk to give the people what they want

The fair management this year engaged one of the best bands in Indiana. The Chenhalt boys' band of Shelbyville is one of the best musical organizations of its kind. The band has vocal soloists, instrumental soloists and quartet arrangements so that it can give a varied concert. The band will stay in a big tent on the ground and will always be on the job. The band will give its first full concert Tuesday night.

Other night attractions are of such merit that they will most surely be well patronized. Wednesday night the big fireworks display will be presented. It is an hour and a quarter program and consists of many valuable pieces of great worth. A man will be sent here form Pittsburg to manage the display to be sure that it is presented right and to insure against any accidents.

Thursday night there will be another band concert, a pony show and a ladies turnout, a special attraction which the fair management has arranged for.

The visit here Tuesday of Governor Ralston should bring out an immense crowd. The governor will arrive here in the morning and will be escorted to the fair ground by a special committee appointed by the fair board. He will eat dinner at the hall which the women of the Main Street Christian church will operate and immediately after the dinner hour will hold a reception in the homecomers and rest tent which will

PLAYGROUND IS DEDICATED

Visiting Speakers Praise Work of Rushville Women For Their Accomplishment Here.

VALUE OF THE INSTITUTION

Supplies, Need in Every Child's Life and Gives Many of Them Real Idea of Discipline.

The playground movement was more fully explained and larger things are expected to come as a result of the formal dedication of Rushville's public playgrounds yesterday afternoon in the Coliseum. Short talks were made by Mrs. J. D. Case, president of the playgrounds association. Mayor Bebout, Will M. Sparks, of the Chamber of Commerce, E. V. Hawkins, donor of the Connersville playgrounds and Miss Adelaide Baylor, of Indianapolis, who is connected with the state superintendent of public instruction's office.

There can be little doubt that the playground will be a success and yesterday afternoon while the program was being carried out there were at least two hundred children at play there showing that the work and aparatus is use is highly appreciated. More equipment will be added as the association sees fit and the women of the city hope to make the playground one of the most complete in the state.

The attendance at the dedication was rather small, due no doubt to the hour, four o'clock. Prof. J. H. Scholl presided and the Lucas orchestra furnished the music. Prof. Scholl, in opening the meeting, stated that in the old school days we had just three hours, reading, writing and arithmetic, but in this day a fourth hour had been added and that was an hour for recreation.

"One half of the children," said Mr. Scholl, "do not play rightfully and others do something worse. This movement is surely worth while and the association is doing a wonderful work."

Mrs. Case, who is president of the playgrounds association and who was appointed playground commissioner by the city school board, gave a brief history of the formation of the association and predicted bigger and better things before the work was completed.

"There has been some agitation for a swimming pool," said Mrs. Case, "in order to make the playground complete. I will say that a swimming pool will be installed if the citizens of Rushvile want it bad enough. If the citizens met the demand we are prepared to drill a well and believe we can install the pool."

"The women of Rushville," continued Mrs. Case, "are happy today to dedicate this playground to all the children of Rushville. This is a place where the children of First and Second streets can mingle with the children of Main street."

Mrs. Case read the by-laws of the association which provide that the membership shall be composed of anyone desiring to help in the movement. She urged a larger membership

In closing Mrs. Case said, "Your presence here this afternoon we take it as a stamp of approval of the playgrounds and we hope to make it even better."

Mayor Bebout, representing the city, stated that he personally, as well as the city council, was in favor of the playgrounds and when the question was first brought up of per-

T. J. HUMES MAY NOT RECOVER

Senior Member of Board of Commissioners Suffers Stroke of Paralysis at Newcastle.

CONSCIOUS ONLY AT TIMES

He is Being Brought Here This Afternoon in a Newcastle Ambulance.

Thomas J. Humes, senior member of the board of commissioners of Rush county, suffered a stroke of paralysis this morning shortly before ten o'clock in the auditor's office of the Henry county court house while attending a joint session of the commissioners from Henry, Fayette and Rush counties. Mr. Humes is in a serious condition and is being brought to his home, north of the city in an ambulance, which left Newcastle shortly before two o'clock this afternoon.

Mr. Humes' left side is affected and little hope for his life is maintained. He said that his side felt like there were a thousand needles sticking him. Dr. J. E. Hiatt, a physician of Newcastle, was called and gave him immediate attention. Dr. Frank Green of this city left for Newcastle shortly after the word was received here, and is accompanying him home in the ambulance. Mr. Humes is conscious only at times.

When Mr. Humes left here this morning he was apparently in his usual health and the stroke came as a great shock to his many friends. Officials in the court house were immediately notified, as was his family. Mr. Humes is the oldest member of the board both in age and the number of years served. He will have completed his second term as commissioner in January, first having been elected in 1908. He is nearly seventy years old and because of his age the stroke is considered very serious.

A sister of Mr. Humes, Miss Sallie Humes, died only last Sunday in Bay View, Mich., where she was spending the summer. Will Spivey, a son-in-law, and John W. Humes, superintendent of the poor asylum, left for Newcastle in an automobile about one o'clock.

Secretary of State Bryan Announces United States Will Not Mix in Jap Controversy.

OFFICIALS ON QUI VIVE

Diplomats in Washington on Alert Awaiting Next Move as Result of Jap Ultimatum.

(By United Press.)

Washington, Aug. 22.—Official announcement was made by Secretary of State Bryan today that this government has made clear its position to Japan in the Japanese-German controversy. In substance the notification is that the United States intends to keep hands off.

State department and administration officials and diplomatic representatives here of Japan, Germany, China and Great Britain were on the qui vive today awaiting the next move in response to Japan's ultimatum to Germany to relinquish the Chinese provinces of Kiao Chau and remove German warships from the Far East.

So tense was the situation regarded that President Wilson decided to forego today his planned and much-needed week Atlantic coast cruise on the Mayflower. He decided to remain in close touch with developments today and tomorrow, in case some instant action may be required of the United States.

Request of Japan that American representatives in Berlin take over the Japanese embassy and interests there in case of hostilities between Japan and Germany and a like request from Germany regarding the German embassy at Tokio, will be granted, state department officials stated today.

The belief was general in diplomatic circles here today that Germany would let the Japanese ultimatum expire by time limitation tomorrow at noon, completely ignoring it and placing upon Japan responsibility for any hostile over to act of initiating conflict.

SERBS CLAIMING MANY VICTORIES

This is Claim of Servian War Office in Announceing Uniform Successes Today

IN THREE DAYS OF FIGHTING

Entire Austrian Regiments are Wiped Serbs Assert—Several Austrian Officers killed.

(By United Press.)

Nish, Servia, Aug. 22.—Reports of fighting of the most desperate character in which it is stated the Servian forces have been uniformly successful, were made public by the war office today. These official accounts claim that in the three days fighting along the banks of the river Drina covering a front of 25 miles the Austrians have lost 25,000 men in killed, wounded and prisoners. Entire regiments have been wiped out. The reports say:

"For three days the Servian and Austrian armies were in battle along the river Drina the theatre of action covering a front of 25 miles. The Austrians attacked in force with all arms of the service represented. The Servian defense was superb. After breaking the force of the Austrian assault, the Servians assumed the offensive. By a series of bayonet charges the Austrian left wing was turned. Then a general Servian attack followed and the Austrians were routed having to retreat in great confusion abandon in their artillery and supply trains.

"The Austrians lost 25,000 in killed, wounded and captured. Entire Austrian regiments were wiped out. The Austrians are now in full retreat with the Servian army in pursuit.

"Among the killed were several Austrian officers of high rank while other prominent Austrian officers are prisoners."

MAY DIVIDE IN TWO FACTIONS

Indications Sacred College May Split Over Question of Modernism Conducted by Late Pope

THIRTY CARDINALS IN ROME

Body of Pope Pius Will be Entombed in St. Peters With Full Ceremonies Late Today.

BY HENRY WOOD
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Rome, Aug. 22.—Thirty cardinals having arrived in Rome for the conclave at which a successor to the late Pope Pius X will be selected, it became apparent today that the election of the new head of the Catholic church will hinge upon the question of modernism.

It is expected today that the sacred college will be divided into two factions. One will favor a continuation of the fight against modernism conducted by Pope Pius. The other, a more liberal element, will be headed by Cardinal Pietro Maffi, Cardinal Andera Ferrari and Cardinal Casparri. Heading the faction advocating a continuance of the policies of Pope Pius will be Cardinal Cajetan Da Lai, Cardinal Billot, Cardinal Sevin and Cardinal Du Willard.

When the body of Pope Pius, enclosed in three caskets, is entombed in St. Peters at six o'clock this evening with full ceremonies, the sacred college will cease to occupy itself with the late pontiff. The cardinals will dedicate themselves to consideration of the future although solemn and elaborate masses for Pope Pius will be celebrated daily in St. Peters for seven days. The members of the sacred college feel, however, that with the entombment they will be free to begin preparation for the conclave.

Owing to the violent storm late yesterday which forced the closing of St. Peters, where the body of his holiness was being viewed by the public, the body again lay in state today until four o'clock. At that time preparations were then made for the interment.

GERMANS IN OSTEND, ENGLISH ARE APPREHENSIVE

unsettled. The preliminary skirmishing is simply a prelude to the larger task when the main armies meet.

Continuing the review says:

"In the western theatre of the war at the end of three weeks, the enemy has not yet attempted to deliver the general attack which, if delivered a week ago and had resulted only in a partial German success would have conceivably interferred with the French concentration. However this can only be continued as a German failure and not as a success for the allies.

"The situation generally so far as the allies are concerned is now considered satisfactory. The majority of the encounters to the present time can only be considered as of minor importance when the magnitude of the entire operations is remembered."

The German demand for payment of war indemnity by Brussels and Liege has aroused the greatest indignation in British circles. All of the morning and this afternoon's newspapers denounce the action ad declare that it "savors of piracy." The Daily News however, while denouncing the levy as "monstrous" says Germany may technically have the right to impose this levy.

That the war office believes stern work is already confronting the army now operating on the continent is best shown by the announcement that all arrangements have been completed for the establishment of emergency hospital at fifty different points. It was announced at the same time that the war office has been flooded with offers of private houses for the sick and wounded. Many of these have been accepted but the deluge of offers has continued to such an extent that the war office today announced no further ones can be considered. Just where these private hospitas have been estabished is not yet announced but it is known a number of the old English estates in the North of England and along the seashore have been fitted up as emergency hospitals and corps of the doctors from the medical reserve are now in attendance.

That the German offensive movement includes the occupation of the Belgian seacoast town of Ostend is considered certain, but up to the present no official will speculate on the object of this move.

The Times military expert in discussing the movement of the Germans says there is little doubt that the German armies are being hurled at the gap between Mone and Charleroi. He then says::

"It is certain many of the troops that presented the imposing spectabe at Brusses were perfectly fresh. They are an important part of that vast army which Germany for fifteen days has effectively screened behind her desperate fighting forces. This army is destined to be hurled into France. Having overcome the Belgian defense the German army will now take the line of least resistance and push the invasion of France.

"There is no doubt that a great battle is raging. On its outcome depends everything. If the Germans gain the advantage the allies will have to form along their second line well inside of the French frontier. If the allies win, then the Germans must fall back facing the fire of the Namur and Liege forts which are still held by the Belgians. The situation is very critical and the public must not expect too much."

Why Sugar is High

Many opinions have been given in the last few weeks why sugar has soared to such great heights. Here are some interesting facts from "Facts About Sugar" that are of great present interest and throw some light on the subject:

The outbreak of war in Europe has resulted in a sharp advance in sugar prices. On July 30, the lowest net cash quotation of the New York refiners for granulated sugar was 4.165 cents a pound while raw sugar was selling at 3.29 cents. By August 10 refined had advanced to 6 cents and daws to 5 cents. (Refined white sugar is now retailing at ten cents a pound.)

Germany, Austria, Russia and France, the nations actively engaged in conflict, are the chief sources of Europe's sugar supply, producing together some 7,500,000 tons of beet sugar. This is nearly 80 per cent of the entire output of beet sugar and more than one-third of the total sugar crop of the world. Orinarily Germany, Austria and Russia export a million tons or more of sugar to other countries, largely to Great Britain. The harvesting of the German beet crop is carried on largely by laborers from Russia Poland, and this labor will not be available if the war continues during the harvesting period. In all the countries involved in the war the labor supply is drained by military operations and it is likely that the beet fields may be devastated by the movement of troops.

Great Britain is the chief sugar importing country of Europe. Her yearly importations are over two million tons, of which approximately 700,000 tons odrinarily is drawn from nations now involved in war. With this source of supply cut off, Great Britian has turned to the New York market to secure sugar, buying 40,000 tons within the first few days of August and bidding up prices rapidly in order to obtain it. While the European war continues it will be necessary for the Britons to depend for sugar upon sources of supply on which usually they do not draw to any extent. It is evident from what has occured already that they are likely to continue in sharp competition for Cuban sugar which ordinarily comes to the American market.

The supply of Cuban and American grown sugar in sight at the end of July was just about sufficient to meet the estimated demands of American consumption up to the time when the crops now growing will become available. Any considerable outside draft upon this supply, therefore, was bound to show its effect at once in advancing prices.

Fortunately for the United States, in spiite of the curtailment of production in the cane and beet growing districts through the reduction of the tariff, we still have a domestic production of sugar, including that of Porto Rico and Hawaii, which should amount to over one and a half million tons this year. This will serve as a great steadier of the market in case of a protracted war, and will prevent prices from going as high as they otheriwse would, although the necessity of securing over two million tons from outside the United States, in addition to the domestic supply, will leave the American market under the influence of the general advance in world prices.

One of the arguments that has been put forward against the destruction of the American sugar growing industry through the removal of the import duty on sugar is that it would expose American consumers to all the violent fluctuations that take place in the European sugar market as a result of war, speculation or crop shortages. The present situation affords a striking illustration of the truth of this claim. If the United States were to double its sugar production, as might easily be done by the systematic development of its cane and beet growing industries, the American people would be entirely independent of the rest of the world for their sugar supply.

Yesterday morning the Associated Press, chief competitor of the United Press, in an effort to retaliate for the beat the United Press made on the death of the pope, announced the death of Anna Sarto, sister of the late pope. It was stated she died shortly after the pope did and that her demise was due to the shock incident to the death of her brother. Today the Associated Press was busy denying it because the story of her death was without foundation.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

When the Pope Died

(Kokomo Tribune)

There is some controversy on among the great news-gathering associations as to the exact time of the passing of Pope Pius X. The United Press association, whose wire report the Tribune takes, place the time of the demise a few hours earlier than that given by rival associations. In fact, the United Press was the first news-gathering agency to report the death and all newspapers taking its day report published the facts of the passing of the pope in the evening edition of Wednesday.

The Indianapolis News, one of the greatest newspapers in the world and certainly one of the most painstaking and accurate, a client of both the United Press and the Associated Press, published the complete story Wednesday evening credited to the United Press.

The Associated Press explains that owing to the present rigid censorship and the congested condition of the cables it was three hours in getting its cablegram through from Rome to New York.

The Laffan News association carries the following interesting information which may explain the extreme difficulty in getting this news and may account for the delay experienced by some of the great press associations:

"The pope lost consciousness around 11 o'clock. Soon after 1 o'clock the Observatore Romana, the official organ of the holy see, broke all precedent with the publication of an official bulletin. It was timed at noon and read:

"'His Holiness is worse; the fever is increasing and the bronchitis is spreading.'

"It was signed by Dr. Marchiafava. It was known then that the physicians were administering oxygen and making injections of stimulants. It was admitted that the condition of his holiness was critical. The viaticum was administered shortly after this. Word was conveyed to the Italian government of the crisis.

"The bulletins ceased around 8 o'clock and then over all official church circles there rescended the ominous silence which the wise easily interpreted. Precedent ordained that until the princes of the church, in whatever land they might be, could be informed, until the Catholic kings and countries could be told, there must be no public announcement."

Taking account of the difference in time between Rome and this city, seven hours, it was soon after 6 o'clock here Wednesday morning when the official organ of the holy see published its bulletin. Seven hours later, at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in this city, the bulletins ceased, and as stated in the Laffan cable the wise easily interpreted the ominous silence. And the same authority goes on to state that public announcement of the end could not be made until all the princes of the church could be informed and all Catholic kings and countries notified.

It is interesting controversy between the news association and the public may well leave it to them. But it cannot be denied that the United Press seems to have had the facts to sustain its prompt report and to justify its claim of being first in the field with this news of world-wide interest. The Tribune has been a client of the United Press for several years and has always had full confidence in the reliability of its reports. It has scored many notable beats in the news of the world and the chances are that it had all its facts straight in this news story and was fully justified in its report.

of great value to the Germans. They have raided in every direction their reconnaissances having given the German general staff the information they so badly needed of the weak spots in the opposition line. The German army of the Meuse and the first and second armies of the Moselle are all participating in the general movement now in progress and the battle front now admittedly covers many miles.

Thousands of Belgian refugees have pryed into Holland and correspondents there of the French paper recites tales of very great suffering. Few of the refugees have any money and all are suffering from want of food. The Dutch Red Cross is doing what it can to relieve the distress.

The war office in an official communication issued at noon says:

"The Belgian concentration on Antwerp is complete and the entire army is now safe there. The army was withdrawn on lines previously planned and is intact and a formidable fighting force constituting a serious menace to the German rear."

The war office admits the Germans have assumed the offensive in both Alsace and Lorrain. The French troops in Lorrain have been unable to maintain their positions and have given in the face of an overwhelming German force, presumably the German army of the Saar, reinforced by the Austrian field force that crossed Lake Constance and is one of the most formidable detachments of the Austrian army. The German army is reported again to be attacking the French troops which recently re-captured Mulhausen. A large detachment of this force has swung along the Swiss frontier and is attempting a flank, attack upon the French army is upper Alace which habits headquarters at Belfort. There has been very severe fighting at a number of points in Alsace Lorraine with enormous losses on both sides.

Reports reaching here today said that German Uhlans had already been reported from Audenarde, on the Scheldt river, 35 miles west of Brussels, 50 miles from the Belgian coast and only 25 miles from the fortified city of Lille.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

RUSSIA TAKES THE OFFENSIVE

St. Petersburg War Office Asserts German and Austrian Armies Are Being Forced Back

ALL ALONG THE FRONTIER

Stated That Enormous Force of Infantry, Supported by Artillery, Crosses into Austria

St. Petersburg, Aug. 22.—The official war bureau today issued the following announcement:

"The entire Russian army is now assuming the offensive at every selected point covering the entire Eastern Prussian and Austrian fortier. The German and Austrian armies are being forced back all along the line. Already much of the Prussian frontier is held by Russian troops and at certain points in Austria, the advance guard of the Russians is more than fifty miles inside of the frontier.

"The temper of the officers and men is excellent. There has been much fighting with heavy losses to the enemy. The Russians have captured a number of German field guns.

"It is stated that the invasion of Austria with cavalry had been in progress for several days but that the main army comprising an enormous force of infantry with sappers, artillery and other needed supports, actually crossed the frontier yesterday. This army is expected to push rapidly forward.

"The invasion of Prussia is being greatly aided by the Russian aviation crops. Many aviators have penetrated far into Prussian territory, carrying with them Russian military observers. The results of these reconnaissances is expected to prove of great worth to the Russian field forces.

"In addition the Russians have used bombs to great advantage. A number of German military supply depots inside the Prussian boundary have been demolished by explosives dropped by the aviators.

POPE'S SISTER ACTS FOR FAMILY

Anna Sarto Recovers Completely from Shock Although News of Death is Published

THE CLAIMS OF "ACCURACY"

BY HENRY WOOD

Rome, Aug. 22.—Miss Anna Sarto, sister of the late Pope Pius X, had entirely recovered today from the first shock of grief that followed her brother's death. She had suffered merely from strain and her health was not in danger at any time. Astonishment was expressed here when it became known that a report of her death was circulated in America. She received numerous callers today and acted for the family of the pontiff

The death of Miss Anna Sarto was announced Thursday night by The Associated Press and the announcement was published in Friday morning papers throughout the United States. The announcement was false and without foundation. This is interesting in connection with the claims of accuracy now being circulated by The Assocated Press in an effort to explain why it was beaten eight hours by the United Press on the news of the death of the pope.

mitting the women of the city to use the park for a playground, it was passed without a dissenting vote.

Judge Will M. Sparks, president of the Rush County Chamber of Commerce, stated that this organization was back of the playground for all it was worth.

"The first thought of a Chamber of Commerce," said Mr. Sparks, "is something with which to locate factories. As I take it, in life there are some things greater than locating factories. Let us lay aside our petty differences and push this thing together and see that our children are made better men and women.

"The big benefit from this playground is not to be derived now. You know I used to believe a great deal in heridity but I have changed my opinion and believe that environment is greater. Environment is at least ninety-nine per cent. It is up to us to give the children of the city a chance to grow up as good men and women."

E. V. Hawkins, donor of the Hawkins playgrounds in Connersville, described his gift to the city and told why he had made it. Mr. Hawkins is a lover of children. He decided that he would do something for the city, hit upon the playground idea, and purchased a small track of land and gave it to the city of Connersville.

"The natural instinct of a child," said Mr. Hawkins, "is to play. The average man is busy these days making a living for his family and is liable to forget to play with the children. The text books in our schools are not all that a child requires. The playgrounds of today are placing the children on larger and broader plains. It will work an influence with children not only physically and mentally, but morally.

"Spoiled children are learning for the first time out there on your playground what discipline really is and they will never forget. Your playground superintendent will work wonders with the children if he is as capable as the man we have in Connersville. It is a good thing for the children to mix in public regardless of class."

Mr. Hawkins is a successful manufacturer of Connersville and created a deep impression on his audience when he stated that he would rather be president of a playground association than build a great city.

Miss Adelaide Baylor, formerly superintendent of the Wabash schools, described conditions as they used to exist. She said in the old days there was always the large playgrounds attached to every school building and stated how the erection of new buildings had taken this ground. Then came libraries and medical inspectors. But now, according to Miss Baylor, the playground movement will go a long way in restoring the children to the primitive, outdoor life of their parents. Leadership is developed and honesty is made on the playground, according to Miss Baylor.

"David Starr Jordon" said Miss Baylor," was surely right when he said 'the salvation of the race rests with the children' I wish to compliment the women of the city on their accomplishment and this certainly shows hat the women can take the initiative."

Dr. J. C. Sexton, who was to represent the physicians of the city, and Dr. J. B. Kinsinger, of the school board, were unable to be present.

The sum of $15.25 was realized by the playground association on the benefit show given at the Gem theater last night. The benefit was very entertaining, and its chief value, promoters of the playground believe, was to interest persons in the playground. Scenes on the Indianapolis playground were shown by Harry D. Tutweiler, Indianapolis playground commissioner. There was also shown a picture of the United States crack regiment, the only picture of the regiment in existence.

ITS ADVANTAGE MORE POLITICAL

Holding of Brussels Will be Big Asset to Kaiser When Time Comes for Peace Terms

NOT WORTH GREAT DEAL NOW

Strategy of Allies Army in Evacuating Belgian Capital Admiral from Two Points of View

(By United Press.)

New York, Aug. 22.—The German occupation of Brussels possesses far more political than military advantages for the kaiser's cause. At present its possession is strategetically unimportant, but if Germany holds the Belgian capital when the war ends, she will possess a strong card at the congress which will assemble to draw up terms of peace.

The possibilities of Brussels as a bargaining possession are considered and if Germany is defeated in the war, her peace envoys will require all the material advantages they can show to minimize the terms that will be inflicted on the Berlin government.

Brussels will have some importance as a railway and commissariat center for the German army, but it is a community hostile to the invaders and that lessens its usefulness. The strategy of the allies in abandoning Brussels, predicted in this column a fortnight ago, is admirable from an economic as well as military point of view. The destruction of the city by bombardment has been averted and the most terrible of the consequences of war are averted by its inhabitants.

The Belgian army, retiring upon Antwerp, is probably under instructions to enter the great armed city on the Scheldt for garrison duty. Only a sufficient number to perform this work, it may confidently be expected, will detach itself from the active field army.

Dispatches make no mention of the French or English serving with the Belgians in the north. It is practically certain they are to the south, with other detachments of the Belgian field army.

The Germans have not as far as indications go, divided the allies. The German forces probably will not follow up their advantage in the North. There seems nothing for them to gain by making that detour. They must plant a sufficient army in front of Antwerp to keep its garrison locked but the main purpose of their advance is to get into France. It is briefly suggested in a Paris despatch that if the Germans have selected a northern circling route, the plans of the allies would have to be re-arranged. The possibility of disconcerting the enemy may have outweighed with the German general staff the danger of following the course of the Scheldt into France with Antwerp's great fortifications threatening first the German flank and then its rear. If so the strategy involved will be one of those daring strokes of war time which are described afterward as the work of a genius if they succeed or the work of a fool if they fail.

The operations in the Metz-Saarebruck-Strassburg lion's mouth district have felt the teeth of the lion and there has been no progress of the enveloping movement.

The French report briefly mentions a retreat to the Seille river by the French advance guard. The Seille is close to the French frontier about fifteen miles west of half a dozen Lorraine towns taken by General Joffre. The French retreat to the river, if it means the evacuation of these towns is Germany's second victory of the war.

ENGLAND MUST BEAR THE BRUNT

To Great Britian Will Fall Lot of Resisting German Advance, Correspondent Says.

ENEMY LIKE A TIDAL WAVE

(By United Press.)

London August 22.—The correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph wiring from Civet, warns England today that it must be prepared to bear the brunt of the resistance to Germany. He says:

"The enemy is advancing like a tidal wave. Many lives must be sacrificed to stem the engulfing flood. All signs point to the fact that a heavy German force has crossed the Meuse and the contending armies are in contact along a line about fifty miles in extent. The Belgian line was so extended that it could not withstand the German cavalry assault. It is rumored that the lines of the allies have had to be withdrawn to fortified positions along the French boundary.

REPORTS OF MUTINY AT LAST CONFIRMED

Czech and Polish Recruits in Austrian Army are Shot When They Will Not Respond to Orders

STORIES TOLD IN LETTERS

(By United Press.)

St. Petersburg, Aug. 22.—Dispatches from various points to the Novoe Vremya confirm earlier reports of mutiny in the Austrian army. Czech residents of Kieff are in receipt of letters telling how Czech and Polish recruits in Austrian regiments were shot by their officers when they refused to respond said to have mutinied, shouting: to orders. One entire battalion is "Down with Emperor William and Francis Joseph. Long live Russia." Some of these letters say that Prague was dominated by the mutineers for an entire day until Austrian loyal troops took the city killing many of the mutineers. After the occupation every Czech in the street was shot down neither age or sex respected. Among those reported killed was the Austrian consul.

FRENCH PROTEST IS ABOUT READY

Alleged Proof of German Brutalities of Violations to be Reported to Neutral Powers

SIXTY CASES ARE CITED

(By United Press.)

Paris, Aug. 22.—The French protest to the neutral powers against alleged German barbarities and violations of the rules of civilized warfare is about completed. It will cite numerous instances where the charge is made that German soldiers killed Belgian and French; deliberately exposed women and children to danger and shot non combatants who were unarmed, is made.

It is stated at the war office that the Belgian foreign minister has forwarded sixty instances of deliberate violation of the Hague and Geneva conventions together with the affidavits proving the charges and that these will be included in the French charges. They will be forwarded to all of the powers signatory to the Geneva and the Hague conventions and they will be asked to demand that Germany live up to her obligations.

Both were off the Brazilian coast, just outside the territorial waters.

Mrs. Jennie Kincaid Asks This Sum in Payment For Services Rendered Late Sarah Kincaid.

EXPECTED TO GET PROPERTY

Mrs. Jennie Kincaid filed a claim for services against the estate of the late Sarah Kincaid today in the circuit court, demanding $8,000. Donald L. Smith is the administrator of the estate. Mrs. Sarah Kincaid was the mother of the late Owen Kincaid, husband of Mrs. Jennie Kincaid.

It was understood, according to the complaint, that Mrs. Jennie Kincaid should get her property for caring for her when she died. It is stated in the complaint that in 1908 Mrs. Kincaid suffered a stroke of paralysis and that her mind was partially affected from this. Mrs. Jennie Kincaid claims that she furnished board, room and nursed her and that a reasonable value for her services is $7,805.

The complaint is in three paragraphs and was filed by John Kiplinger.

WITH GERMANS IN OSTEND, ENGLISH ARE APPREHENSIVE

Fear of Air Campaign Over England is Feared When Kaiser's Men Occupy Shore Resort Today.

EXPERTS CAN'T CONCEIVE IT

Knowledges That Germans Are Four Hours From England by Boat Makes People Bit Nervous.

BIG PROBLEMS UNSETTLED

English War Bureau Statement Says Neither Side Can Claim to Have Decisive Victory.

(By U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

London, August 22.—Jubilation over the series of successes by the Begian army today gave way to serious concern over the present situation. The occupancy of Ostend, giving Germany that Belgian shore resort, while not officially confirmed, is accepted as practically a certainty. The newspapers, led by the Times, the Post and the Express, all express the fear that this latest German move may mean an attempted raid through the air, directed against England. While the majority of the military experts say they can not conceive of any such move, the great majority of Britian's people are apprehensive of a German dirigible campaign over England. The knowledge that the Germans are within four hours of the British coast by steamer has made many at least nervous.

The official war bureau, in a statement analyzing the situation to date says:

Neither side can claim to have gained what could be called a decisive victory. The French have steadily continued to gain ground in Alsace. The Germans have obliged a large portion of the Belgian army to retire on Antwerp. But the big problems of the present war are still

MILLIONAIRE AUTO RACE DRIVER KILLED

Spencer Wishart Dies From Injuries Received on Elgin, Ill., Track This Afternoon.

MARRIED INDIANAPOLIS GIRL

(By United Press.)

Elgin, Ill., August 22.—Spencer Wishart, New York milionaire sportsman and auto racer, died in a local hospital from injuries he received when his Mercer car, in which he was leading the Elgin national trophy race, turned turtle on the back stretch on the eleventh lap this afternoon. Mrs. Louise McGowan, Wishart, formerly of Indianapolis was in the stand and hurried to her husband's side. Wishart sustained a broken leg and internal injuries.

At 150 miles the position of the leading cars was:

Burman's pengot, Alley's Duesenberg, Pullen's Mercer, DePalma's Mercedes, Grant's Sunbeam and Anderson's and Oldfield's Stultz. Four spectators were reported seriously injured when Wishart's car overturned.

SHE VIOLATES RULES OF WAR

French War Office Charges Germans Are Using Explosive Bullets And Appeals to Powers.

HAS OTHER COMPLAINTS ALSO

Unopposed, Germans Are Moving Very Fast Through Northern and Eastern Belgium.

(By U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Paris, August, 22.—The French war office tonight directly charged that the Germans are using explosive bullets in contravention of the rules of civilized warfare. In an official formal protest was announced that a formal protest was made tonight to all of the neutral powers, calling their attention to this violation of the rules to which Germany herself was a party and asking that they unite in a protest to the German government.

In addition it was stated that the formal protest against alleged bombardment of unfortified villages and towns without formal warning and of the alleged killing of non-combatants have been prepared and they, too, will be forwarded to the neutral powers.

The German troops are moving very fast all through northern and eastern Belgium. Practically unopposed they have spread to Ghent and toward Ostend. Strong bodies of the enemy are pressing steadily along both banks of the Meuse just out of range of the guns of the Namur fort. A strong German column with heavy artillery is bombarding Namur. Every indication points to a sharp, stern assault on the enemy's lines of defense. Just where the blow is being struck by the allied armies is a profound secret. But the war office experts declare that every move of the Germans in Belgium has been anticipated and that they will be met "when the proper time comes."

The German army is moving along both banks of the Meuse past Namur leaving a heavy force of artillery to reduce the fortifications. It is considered certain that it is striking at the first French line and there are rumors that the Germans are attempting in enveloping movement now that the Belgian army has been thrown back and bottled up. It is admitted that the German cavalry has proven

Japan is Ready to Strike at Kiao Chau, German Territory, at Expiration of Ultimatum

KAISER WILL RESIST TO LAST

Germans Will Put up Desperate Fight by Land and Sea—Reinforcements are Added

When Ultimatum Expires

While the Japanese ultimatum to Germany expires at noon Sunday, it failed to state whether Berlin or Tokio time was to be observed. While it is believed that noon Berlin will be the time limit insisted on by the Mikado, dispatches from Tokio and Berlin, via the frontier, fail to clear up that point. The following figures show the New York time under both conditions:

When it is noon Sunday at Tokio, it is 3:35 a. m. Sunday in Berlin and 9:41 p. m. Saturday in New York.

When it is noon Sunday at Berlin, it is 8:25 p. m. Sunday in Tokio and 6:06 a. m. Sunday in New York.

(By United Press.)

Shanghai, Aug. 22.—Not only a Japanese fleet, but an immense Japanese army is already waiting the word to strike at Kiao Chau. Japan has not waited for the expiration of her ultimatum to place her forces in position. Advices from Tokio prove this although the censorship is absolute and Japanese correspondents are warned that any publication of news of the army or navy shall be punished by death.

It is reported here that the fleet mobilized and is now at a rendezvous near the Shantung peninsula. It comprises all of the modern battleships and armored cruisers. With the fleet is reported to be a large army on transports nearly every man of whom is a veteran of the Russo-Japanese war. There is now no resist to the last. The Japanese question in Tokio that Germany will officials know that the entire fortifications of the German concession have been reinforced. Coolies have been working night and day for a month strengthening every point. Additional guns have been mounted and there is no doubt here that the channel to the harbor has been mined

The Germans are expected to put up a desperate resistance both by land and by sea. The German war fleet in the Orient has been getting ready in the harbor for the last week. Ever since the ultimatum was served the cruisers have been preparing for action and, although far outnumbered, are expected to attempt a raid on the Japanese the moment the latter open hostilities.

ASKED TO NAME DELEGATES.

Mayor C. L. Bebout has received word that he is entitled to appoint five delegates to the International Irrigation Congress to be held in Calgary, Alberta, Canada, October 5 to 9. Miss Anna Finney, who has been ill at her home in Third street, is very much improved.

CONCESSIONS ARRIVE TODAY

Evidence of Annual County Exhibit is Seen on Every Hand Today on Eve of Opening.

TWO FAIRS TO DRAW FROM

Race Track is Put in Excellent Shape and Barns Are Filling up, Insuring Good Program.

Concessions and race horses began arriving today for the Rush county fair which will open next Tuesday. Rush county follows two county fairs in this immediate vicinity so that there is aways a chance for a large number of concessions and race horses. Both the Fayette and Bartholomew county fairs closed yesterday.

Word from Connersville is that practically every concession on the grounds there will come to Rushville, with the exception of one undesirable show. Notable among the attractions at the Fayette county free fair fair which will come here is Buckskin Ben's will west show.

This show has been at the Rush county fair before, but this year it is increased in size and offers a much more pretentious performance. Persons from here who attended the fair at Connersville say that Buckskin Ben's show is better than Col. Cummins' Far East and Young Buffalo's Far West show which was here this summer and for which an admission fee of fifty cents was charged. The fair management made a special endeavor to bring Buckskin Ben here for it was felt that this show at ten cents would be worth much more than several ordinary free attractions

The fair this year is expected to be doubly attractive this year because of the night feature. Every since the Fayette county free fair has held a night fair, there has been a public clamor in Rush county for a night fair. The fair board this year has gone to some expense and has taken considerabe risk to give the people what they want

The fair management this year engaged one of the best bands in Indiana. The Chenhalt boys' band of Shelbyville is one of the best musical organizations of its kind. The band has vocal soloists, instrumental soloists and quartet arrangements so that it can give a varied concert. The band will stay in a big tent on the ground and will always be on the job. The band will give its first full concert Tuesday night.

Other night attractions are of such merit that they will most surely be well patronized. Wednesday night the big fireworks display will be presented. It is an hour and a quarter program and consists of many valuable pieces of great worth. A man will be sent here form Pittsburg to manage the display to be sure that it is presented right and to insure against any accidents.

Thursday night there will be another band concert, a pony show and a ladies turnout, a special attraction which the fair management has arranged for.

The visit here Tuesday of Governor Ralston should bring out an immense crowd. The governor will arrive here in the morning and will be escorted to the fair ground by a special committee appointed by the fair board. He will eat dinner at the hall which the women of the Main Street Christian church will operate and immediately after the dinner hour will hold a reception in the homecomers and rest tent which will

Visiting Speakers Praise Work of Rushville Women For Their Accomplishment Here.

VALUE OF THE INSTITUTION

Supplies, Need in Every Child's Life and Gives Many of Them Real Idea of Discipline.

The playground movement was more fully explained and larger things are expected to come as a result of the formal dedication of Rushville's public playgrounds yesterday afternoon in the Coliseum. Short talks were made by Mrs. J. D. Case, president of the playgrounds association. Mayor Bebout, Will M. Sparks, of the Chamber of Commerce, E. V. Hawkins, donor of the Connersville playgrounds and Miss Adelaide Baylor, of Indianapolis, who is connected with the state superintendent of public instruction's office.

There can be little doubt that the playground will be a success and yesterday afternoon while the program was being carried out there were at least two hundred children at play there showing that the work and aparatus is use is highly appreciated. More equipment will be added as the association sees fit and the women of the city hope to make the playground one of the most complete in the state.

The attendance at the dedication was rather small, due no doubt to the hour, four o'clock. Prof. J. H. Scholl presided and the Lucas orchestra furnished the music. Prof. Scholl, in opening the meeting, stated that in the old school days we had just three hours, reading, writing and arithmetic, but in this day a fourth hour had been added and that was an hour for recreation.

"One half of the children," said Mr. Scholl, "do not play rightfully and others do something worse. This movement is surely worth while and the association is doing a wonderful work."

Mrs. Case, who is president of the playgrounds association and who was appointed playground commissioner by the city school board, gave a brief history of the formation of the assoiation and predicted bigger and better things before the work was completed.

"There has been some agitation for a swimming pool," said Mrs. Case, "in order to make the playground complete. I will say that a swimming pool will be installed if the citizens of Rushvile want it bad enough. If the citizens met the demand we are prepared to drill a well and believe we can install the pool."

"The women of Rushville," continued Mrs. Case, "are happy today to dedicate this playground to all the children of Rushville. This is a place where the children of First and Second streets can mingle with the children of Main street."

Mrs. Case read the by-laws of the association which provide that the membership shall be composed of anyone desiring to help in the movement. She urged a larger membership

In closing Mrs. Case said, "Your presence here this afternoon we take it as a stamp of approval of the playgrounds and we hope to make it even better."

Mayor Bebout, representing the city, stated that he personally, as well as the city council, was in favor of the playgrounds and when the question was first brought up of per-

T. J. HUMES MAY NOT RECOVER

Senior Member of Board of Commissioners Suffers Stroke of Paralysis at Newcastle.

CONSCIOUS ONLY AT TIMES

He is Being Brought Here This Afternoon in a Newcastle Ambulance.

Thomas J. Humes, senior member of the board of commissioners of Rush county, suffered a stroke of paralysis this morning shortly before ten o'clock in the auditor's office of the Henry county court house while attending a joint session of the commissioners from Henry, Fayette and Rush counties. Mr. Humes is in a serious condition and is being brought to his home, north of the city in an ambulance, which left Newcastle shortly before two o'clock this afternoon.

Mr. Humes' left side is affected and little hope for his life is maintained. He said that his side felt like there were a thousand needles sticking him. Dr. J. E. Hiatt, a physician of Newcastle, was called and gave him immediate attention. Dr. Frank Green of this city left for Newcastle shortly after the word was received here, and is accompanying him home in the ambulance. Mr. Humes is conscious only at times.

When Mr. Humes left here this morning he was apparently in his usual health and the stroke came as a great shock to his many friends. Officials in the court house were immediately notified, as was his family. Mr. Humes is the oldest member of the board both in age and the number of years served. He will have completed his second term as commissioner in January, first having been elected in 1908. He is nearly seventy years old and because of his age the stroke is considered very serious.

A sister of Mr. Humes, Miss Sallie Humes, died only last Sunday in Bay View, Mich., where she was spending the summer. Will Spivey, a son-in-law, and John W. Humes, superintendent of the poor asylum, left for Newcastle in an automobile about one o'clock.

(By United Press.)

Washington, Aug. 22.—President Wilson stood firmly today in his determination not to take any vacation despite his official physician's recommendation. There was a possibility however, of his taking a short week-end Atlantic coast trip on the presidential yacht Mayflower, leaving here tonight.

UNCLE SAM TO KEEP HANDS OFF

Secretary of State Bryan Announces United States Will Not Mix in Jap Controversy.

OFFICIALS ON QUI VIVE

Diplomats in Washington on Alert Awaiting Next Move as Result of Jap Ultimatum.

(By United Press.)

Washington, Aug. 22.—Official announcement was made by Secretary of State Bryan today that this government has made clear its position to Japan in the Japanese-German controversy. In substance the notification is that the United States intends to keep hands off.

State department and administration officials and diplomatic representatives here of Japan, Germany, China and Great Britain were on the qui vive today awaiting the next move in response to Japan's ultimatum to Germany to relinquish the Chinese provinces of Kiao Chau and remove German warships from the Far East.

So tense was the situation regarded that President Wilson decided to forego today his planned and much-needed week Atlantic coast cruise on the Mayflower. He decided to remain in close touch with developments today and tomorrow, in case some instant action may be required of the United States.

Request of Japan that American representatives in Berlin take over the Japanese embassy and interests there in case of hostilities between Japan and Germany and a like request from Germany regarding the German embassy at Tokio, will be granted, state department officials stated today.

The belief was general in diplomatic circles here today that Germany would let the Japanese ultimatum expire by time limitation tomorrow at noon, completely ignoring it and placing upon Japan responsibility for any hostile over to act of initiating conflict.

(By United Press.)

Nish, Servia, Aug. 22.—Reports of fighting of the most desperate character in which it is stated the Servian forces have been uniformly successful, were made public by the war office today. These official accounts claim that in the three days fighting along the banks of the river Drina covering a front of 25 miles the Austrians have lost 25,000 men in killed, wounded and prisoners. MAY DIVIDE IN TWO FACTIONS

THIRTY CARDINALS IN ROME

Body of Pope Pius Will be Entombed in St. Peters With Full Ceremonies Late Today.

BY HENRY WOOD
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Rome, Aug. 22.—Thirty cardinals having arrived in Rome for the conclave at which a successor to the late Pope Pius X will be selected, it became apparent today that the election of the new head of the Catholic church will hinge upon the question of modernism.

It is expected today that the sacred college will be divided into two factions. One will favor a continuation of the fight against modernism conducted by Pope Pius. The other, a more liberal element, will be headed by Cardinal Pietro Maffi, Cardinal Andera Ferrari and Cardinal Casparri. Heading the faction advocating a continuance of the policies of Pope Pius will be Cardinal Cajetan Da Lai, Cardinal Billot, Cardinal Sevin and Cardinal Du Willard.

When the body of Pope Pius, enclosed in three caskets, is entombed in St. Peters at six o'clock this evening with full ceremonies, the sacred college will cease to occupy itself with the late pontiff. The cardinals will dedicate themselves to consideration of the future although solemn and elaborate masses for Pope Pius will be celebrated daily in St. Peters for seven days. The members of the sacred college feel, however, that with the entombment they will be free to begin preparation for the conclave.

Owing to the violent storm late yesterday which forced the closing of St. Peters, where the body of his holiness was being viewed by the public, the body again lay in state today until four o'clock. At that time preparations were then made for the interment.

GERMANS IN OSTEND; ENGLISH ARE APPREHENSIVE

unsettled. The preliminary skirmishing is simply a prelude to the larger task when the main armies meet.

Continuing the review says:

"In the western theatre of the war at the end of three weeks, the enemy has not yet attempted to deliver the general attack which, if delivered a week ago and had resulted only in a partial German success would have conceivably interferred with the French concentration. However this can only be continued as a German failure and not as a success for the allies.

"The situation generally so far as the allies are concerned is now considered satisfactory. The majority of the encounters to the present time can only be considered as of minor importance when the magnitude of the entire operations is remembered."

The German demand for payment of war indemnity by Brussels and Liege has aroused the greatest indignation in British circles. All of the morning and this afternoon's newspapers denounce the action ad declare that it "savors of piracy." The Daily News however, while denouncing the levy as "monstrous" says Germany may technically have the right to impose this levy.

That the war office believes stern work is already confronting the army now operating on the continent is best shown by the announcement that all arrangements have been completed for the establishment of emergency hospital at fifty different points. It was announced at the same time that the war office has been flooded with offers of private houses for the sick and wounded. Many of these have been accepted but the deluge of offers has continued to such an extent that the war office today announced no further ones can be considered. Just where these private hospitas have been estabished is not yet announced but it is known a number of the old English estates in the North of England and along the seashore have been fitted up as emergency hospitals and corps of the doctors from the medical reserve are now in attendance.

That the German offensive movement includes the occupation of the Belgian seacoast town of Ostend is considered certain, but up to the present no official will speculate on the object of this move.

The Times military expert in discussing the movement of the Germans says there is little doubt that the German armies are being hurled at the gap between Mons and Charleroi. He then says::

"It is certain many of the troops that presented the imposing spectabe at Brusses were perfectly fresh. They are an important part of that vast army which Germany for fifteen days has effectively screened behind her desperate fighting forces. This army is destined to be hurled into France. Having overcome the Belgian defense the German army will now take the line of least resistance and push the invasion of France.

"There is no doubt that a great battle is raging. On its outcome depends everything. If the Germans gain the advantage the allies will have to form along their second line well inside of the French frontier. If the allies win, then the Germans must fall back facing the fire of the Namur and Liege forts which are still held by the Belgians. The situation is very critical and the public must not expect too much."

Why Sugar is High

Many opinions have been given in the last few weeks why sugar has soared to such great heights. Here are some interesting facts from "Facts About Sugar" that are of great present interest and throw some light on the subject:

The outbreak of war in Europe has resulted in a sharp advance in sugar prices. On July 30, the lowest net cash quotation of the New York refiners for granulated sugar was 4.165 cents a pound while raw sugar was selling at 3.29 cents. By August 10 refined had advanced to 6 cents and daws to 5 cents. (Refined white sugar is now retailing at ten cents a pound.)

Germany, Austria, Russia and France, the nations actively engaged in conflict, are the chief sources of Europe's sugar supply, producing together some 7,500,000 tons of beet sugar. This is nearly 80 per cent of the entire output of beet sugar and more than one-third of the total sugar crop of the world. Orinarily Germany, Austria and Russia export a million tons or more of sugar to other countries, largely to Great Britain. The harvesting of the German beet crop is carried on largely by laborers from Russia Poland, and this labor will not be available if the war continues during the harvesting period. In all the countries involved in the war the labor supply is drained by military operations and it is likely that the beet fields may be devastated by the movement of troops.

Great Britain is the chief sugar importing country of Europe. Her yearly importations are over two million tons, of which approximately 700,000 tons odrinarily is drawn from nations now involved in war. With this source of supply cut off, Great Britian has turned to the New York market to secure sugar, buying 40,000 tons within the first few days of August and bidding up prices rapidly in order to obtain it. While the European war continues it will be necessary for the Britons to depend for sugar upon sources of supply on which usually they do not draw to any extent. It is evident from what has occured already that they are likely to continue in sharp competition for Cuban sugar which ordinarily comes to the American market.

The supply of Cuban and American grown sugar in sight at the end of July was just about sufficient to meet the estimated demands of American consumption up to the time when the crops now growing will become available. Any considerable outside draft upon this supply, therefore, was bound to show its effect at once in advancing prices.

Fortunately for the United States, in spiite of the curtailment of production in the cane and beet growing districts through the reduction of the tariff, we still have a domestic production of sugar, including that of Porto Rico and Hawaii, which should amount to over one and a half million tons this year. This will serve as a great steadier of the market in case of a protracted war, and will prevent prices from going as high as they otherwise would, although the necessity of securing over two million tons from outside the United States, in addition to the domestic supply, will leave the American market under the influence of the general advance in world prices.

One of the arguments that has been put forward against the destruction of the American sugar growing industry through the removal of the import duty on sugar is that it would expose American consumers to all the violent fluctuations that take place in the European sugar market as a result of war, speculation or crop shortages. The present situation affords a striking illustration of the truth of this claim. If the United States were to double its sugar production, as might easily be done by the systematic development of its cane and beet growing industries, the American people would be entirely independent of the rest of the world for their sugar supply.

Yesterday morning the Associated Press, chief competitor of the United Press, in an effort to retaliate for the beat the United Press made on the death of the pope, announced the death of Anna Sarto, sister of the late pope. It was stated she died shortly after the pope did and that her demise was due to the shock incident to the death of her brother. Today the Associated Press was busy denying it because the story of her death was without foundation.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

When the Pope Died

(Kokomo Tribune)

There is some controversy on among the great news-gathering associations as to the exact time of the passing of Pope Pius X. The United Press association, whose wire report the Tribune takes, place the time of the demise a few hours earlier than that given by rival associations. In fact, the United Press was the first news-gathering agency to report the death and all newspapers taking its day report published the facts of the passing of the pope in the evening edition of Wednesday.

The Indianapolis News, one of the greatest newspapers in the world and certainly one of the most painstaking and accurate, a client of both the United Press and the Associated Press, published the complete story Wednesday evening credited to the United Press.

The Associated Press explains that owing to the present rigid censorship and the congested condition of the cables it was three hours in getting its cablegram through from Rome to New York.

The Laffan News association carries the following interesting information which may explain the extreme difficulty in getting this news and may account for the delay experienced by some of the great press associations:

"The pope lost consciousness around 11 o'clock. Soon after 1 o'clock the Observatore Romana, the official organ of the holy see, broke all precedent with the publication of an official bulletin. It was timed at noon and read:

"'His Holiness is worse; the fever is increasing and the bronchitis is spreading.'

"It was signed by Dr. Marchiafava. It was known then that the physicians were administering oxygen and making injections of stimulants. It was admitted that the condition of his holiness was critical. The viaticum was administered shortly after this. Word was conveyed to the Italian government of the crisis.

"The bulletins ceased around 8 o'clock and then over all official church circles there rescended the ominous silence which the wise easily interpreted. Precedent ordained that until the princes of the church, in whatever land they might be, could be informed, until the Catholic kings and countries could be told, there must be no public announcement."

Taking account of the difference in time between Rome and this city, seven hours, it was soon after 6 o'clock here Wednesday morning when the official organ of the holy see published its bulletin. Seven hours later, at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in this city, the bulletins ceased, and as stated in the Laffan cable the wise easily interpreted the ominous silence. And the same authority goes on to state that public announcement of the end could not be made until all the princes of the church could be informed and all Catholic kings and countries notified.

It is interesting controversy between the news association and the public may well leave it to them. But it cannot be denied that the United Press seems to have had the facts to sustain its prompt report and to justify its claim of being first in the field with this news of world-wide interest. The Tribune has been a client of the United Press for several years and has always had full confidence in the reliability of its reports. It has scored many notable beats in the news of the world and the chances are that it had all its facts straight in this news story and was fully justified in its report.

of great value to the Germans. They have raided in every direction their reconnaissances having given the German general staff the information they so badly needed of the weak spots in the opposition line. The German army of the Meuse and the first and second armies of the Moselle are all participating in the general movement now in progress and the battle front now admittedly covers many miles.

Thousands of Belgian refugees have pryed into Holland and correspondents there of the French paper recites tales of very great suffering. Few of the refugees have any money and all are suffering from want of food. The Dutch Red Cross is doing what it can to relieve the distress.

The war office in an official communication issued at noon says:

"The Belgian concentration on Antwerp is complete and the entire army is now safe there. The army was withdrawn on lines previously planned and is intact and a formidable fighting force constituting a serious menace to the German rear."

The war office admits the Germans have assumed the offensive in both Alsace and Lorrain. The French troops in Lorrain have been unable to maintain their positions and have given in the face of an overwhelming German force, presumably the German army of the Saar, reinforced by the Austrian field force that crossed Lake Constance and is one of the most formidable detachments of the Austrian army. The German army is reported again to be attacking the French troops which recently re-captured Mulhausen. A large detachment of this force has swung along the Swiss frontier and is attempting a flank attack upon the French army is upper Alace which habits headquarters at Belfort. There has been very severe fighting at a number of points in Alsace Lorraine with enormous losses on both sides.

Reports reaching here today said that German Uhlans had already been reported from Audenarde, on the Scheldt river, 35 miles west of Brussels, 50 miles from the Belgian coast and only 25 miles from the fortified city of Lille.

RUSSIA TAKES THE OFFENSIVE

St. Petersburg War Office Asserts German and Austrian Armies Are Being Forced Back

ALL ALONG THE FRONTIER

Stated That Enormous Force of Infantry, Supported by Artillery, Crosses into Austria

St. Petersburg, Aug. 22.—The official war bureau today issued the following announcement:

"The entire Russian army is now assuming the offensive at every selected point covering the entire Eastern Prussian and Austrian fortier. The German and Austrian armies are being forced back all along the line. Already much of the Prussian frontier is held by Russian troops and at certain points in Austria, the advance guard of the Russians is more than fifty miles inside of the frontier.

"The temper of the officers and men is excellent. There has been much fighting with heavy losses to the enemy. The Russians have captured a number of German field guns.

"It is stated that the invasion of Austria with cavalry had been in progress for several days but that the main army comprising an enormous force of infantry with sappers, artillery and other needed supports, actually crossed the frontier yesterday. This army is expected to push rapidly forward.

"The invasion of Prussia is being greatly aided by the Russian aviation crops. Many aviators have penetrated far into Prussian territory, carrying with them Russian military observers. The results of these reconnaissances is expected to prove of great worth to the Russian field forces.

"In addition the Russians have used bombs to great advantage. A number of German military supply depots inside the Prussian boundary have been demolished by explosives dropped by the aviators.

POPE'S SISTER ACTS FOR FAMILY

Anna Sarto Recovers Completely from Shock Although News of Death is Published

THE CLAIMS OF "ACCURACY"

BY HENRY WOOD

Rome, Aug. 22.—Miss Anna Sarto, sister of the late Pope Pius X, had entirely recovered today from the first shock of grief that followed her brother's death. She had suffered merely from strain and her health was not in danger at any time. Astonishment was expressed here when it became known that a report of her death was circulated in America. She received numerous callers today and acted for the family of the pontiff

The death of Miss Anna Sarto was announced Thursday night by The Associated Press and the announcement was published in Friday morning papers throughout the United States. The announcement was false and without foundation. This is interesting in connection with the claims of accuracy now being circulated by The Associated Press in an effort to explain why it was beaten eight hours by the United Press on the news of the death of the pope.

mitting the women of the city to use the park for a playground, it was passed without a dissenting vote.

Judge Will M. Sparks, president of the Rush County Chamber of Commerce, stated that this organization was back of the playground for all it was worth.

"The first thought of a Chamber of Commerce," said Mr. Sparks, "is something with which to locate factories. As I take it, in life there are some things greater than locating factories. Let us lay aside our petty differences and push this thing together and see that our children are made better men and women.

"The big benefit from this playground is not to be derived now. You know I used to believe a great deal in heridity but I have changed my opinion and believe that environment is greater. Environment is at least ninety-nine per cent. It is up to us to give the children of the city a chance to grow up as good men and women."

E. V. Hawkins, donor of the Hawkins playgrounds in Connersville, described his gift to the city and told why he had made it. Mr. Hawkins is a lover of children. He decided that he would do something for the city, hit upon the playground idea, and purchased a small track of land and gave it to the city of Connersville.

"The natural instinct of a child." said Mr. Hawkins, "is to play. The average man is busy these days making a living for his family and is liable to forget to play with the children. The text books in our schools are not all that a child requires. The playgrounds of today are placing the children on larger and broader plains. It will work an influence with children not only physically and mentally, but morally.

"Spoiled children are learning for the first time out there on your playground what discipline really is and they will never forget. Your playground superintendent will work wonders with the children if he is as capable as the man we have in Connersville. It is a good thing for the children to mix in public regardless of class."

Mr. Hawkins is a successful manufacturer of Connersville and created a deep impression on his audience when he stated that he would rather be president of a playground association than build a great city.

Miss Adelaide Baylor, formerly superintendent of the Wabash schools, described conditions as they used to exist. She said in the old days there was always the large playgrounds attached to every school building and stated how the erection of new buildings had taken this ground. Then came libraries and medical inspectors. But now, according to Miss Baylor, the playground movement will go a long way in restoring the children to the primitive, outdoor life of their parents. Leadership is developed and honesty is made on the playground, according to Miss Baylor.

"David Starr Jordon" said Miss Baylor," was surely right when he said 'the salvation of the race rests with the children' I wish to compliment the women of the city on their accomplishment and this certainly shows hat the women can take the initiative."

Dr. J. C. Sexton, who was to represent the physicians of the city, and Dr. J. B. Kinsinger, of the school board, were unable to be present.

The sum of $15.25 was realized by the playground association on the benefit show given at the Gem theater last night. The benefit was very entertaining, and its chief value, promoters of the playground believe, was to interest persons in the playground. Scenes on the Indianapolis playground were shown by Harry D. Tutweiler, Indianapolis playground commissioner. There was also shown a picture of the United States crack regiment, the only picture of the regiment in existence.

ITS ADVANTAGE MORE POLITICAL

Holding of Brussels Will be Big Asset to Kaiser When Time Comes for Peace Terms

NOT WORTH GREAT DEAL NOW

Strategy of Allies Army in Evacuating Belgian Capital Admiral from Two Points of View

(By United Press.)

New York, Aug. 22.—The German occupation of Brussels possesses far more political than military advantages for the kaiser's cause. At present its possession is strategetically unimportant, but if Germany holds the Belgian capital when the war ends, she will possess a strong card at the congress which will assemble to draw up terms of peace.

The possibilities of Brussels as a bargaining possession are considered and if Germany is defeated in the war, her peace envoys will require all the material advantages they can show to minimize the terms that will be inflicted on the Berlin government.

Brussels will have some importance as a railway and commissariat center for the German army, but it is a community hostile to the invaders and that lessens its usefulness. The strategy of the allies in abandoning Brussels, predicted in this column a fortnight ago, is admirable from an economic as well as military point of view. The destruction of the city by bombardment has been averted and the most terrible of the consequences of war are averted by its inhabitants.

The Belgian army, retiring upon Antwerp, is probably under instructions to enter the great armed city on the Scheldt for garrison duty. Only a sufficient number to perform this work, it may confidently be expected, will detach itself from the active field army.

Dispatches make no mention of the French or English serving with the Belgians in the north. It is practically certain they are to the south, with other detachments of the Belgian field army.

The Germans have not as far as indications go, divided the allies. The German forces probably will not follow up their advantage in the North. There seems nothing for them to gain by making that detour. They must plant a sufficient army in front of Antwerp to keep its garrison locked but the main purpose of their advance is to get into France. It is briefly suggested in a Paris despatch that if the Germans have selected a northern circling route, the plans of the allies would have to be re-arranged. The possibility of disconcerting the enemy may have outweighed with the German general staff the danger of following the course of the Scheldt into France with Antwerp's great fortifications threatening first the German flank and then its rear. If so the strategy involved will be one of those daring strokes of war time which are described afterward as the work of a genius if they succeed or the work of a fool if they fail.

The operations in the Metz-Saarebruck-Strassburg lion's mouth district have felt the teeth of the lion and there has been no progress of the enveloping movement.

The French report briefly mentions a retreat to the Seille river by the French advance guard. The Seille is close to the French frontier about fifteen miles west of half a dozen Lorraine towns taken by General Joffre. The French retreat to the river, if it means the evacuation of these towns is Germany's second victory of the war.

ENGLAND MUST BEAR THE BRUNT

To Great Britian Will Fall Lot of Resisting German Advance, Correspondent Says.

ENEMY LIKE A TIDAL WAVE

(By United Press.)

London August 22.—The correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph wiring from Civet, warns England today that it must be prepared to bear the brunt of the resistance to Germany. He says:

"The enemy is advancing like a tidal wave. Many lives must be sacrificed to stem the engulfing flood. All signs point to the fact that a heavy German force has crossed the Meuse and the contending armies are in contact along a line about fifty miles in extent. The Belgian line was so extended that it could not withstand the German cavalry assault. It is rumored that the lines of the allies have had to be withdrawn to fortified positions along the French boundary.

REPORTS OF MUTINY AT LAST CONFIRMED

Czech and Polish Recruits in Austrian Army are Shot When They Will Not Respond to Orders

STORIES TOLD IN LETTERS

(By United Press.)

St. Petersburg, Aug. 22.—Dispatches from various points to the Novoe Vremya confirm earlier reports of mutiny in the Austrian army. Czech residents of Kieff are in receipt of letters telling how Czech and Polish recruits in Austrian regiments were shot by their officers when they refused to respond said to have mutinied, shouting: to orders. One entire battalion is "Down with Emperor William and Francis Joseph. Long live Russia." Some of these letters say that Prague was dominated by the mutineers for an entire day until Austrian loyal troops took the city killing many of the mutineers. After the occupation every Czech in the street was shot down neither age or sex respected. Among those reported killed was the Austrian consul.

FRENCH PROTEST IS ABOUT READY

Alleged Proof of German Brutalities of Violations to be Reported to Neutral Powers

SIXTY CASES ARE CITED

(By United Press.)

Paris, Aug. 22.—The French protest to the neutral powers against alleged German barbarities and violations of the rules of civilized warfare is about completed. It will cite numerous instances where the charge is made that German soldiers killed Belgian and French; deliberately exposed women and children to danger and shot non combatants who were unarmed, is made.

It is stated at the war office that the Belgian foreign minister has forwarded sixty instances of deliberate violation of the Hague and Geneva conventions together with the affidavits proving the charges and that these will be included in the French charges. They will be forwarded to all of the powers signatory to the Geneva and the Hague conventions and they will be asked to demand that Germany live up to her obligations.

Mrs. Jennie Kincaid Asks This Sum in Payment For Services Rendered Late Sarah Kincaid.

EXPECTED TO GET PROPERTY

Mrs. Jennie Kincaid filed a claim for services against the estate of the late Sarah Kincaid today in the circuit court, demanding $8,000. Donald L. Smith is the administrator of the estate. Mrs. Sarah Kincaid was the mother of the late Owen Kincaid, husband of Mrs. Jennie Kincaid.
